CORTEN STEEL

Corten steel is a specialty material, blended with just the right amount of zinc to allow the perfect rusting. These planters will naturally rust for 3-9 months and then retain that rustic look for many decades thereafter.

The Corten steel planter is very popular and trending for outdoor landscape designs, and is one of our best selling products.

With the largest selection of corten steel planters in the USA we are sure you will find the perfect planter.

ALUMINUM

Aluminum planters have the advantage of being available in a large color selection. The high heat process of powder coating, enables the color finish to last for lots of years even with being exposed to harsh weather conditions.

Aluminum planters weigh a lot less than corten steel which make them a better option for rooftop installations that cannot handle heavy weight.

The aluminum planter is extremely popular among interior and exterior designers, who strategically use the planters to complement the entire design theme of the space.
